What is an Association Management Company (AMC)?

First, the chapter should determine if they are looking to hire a company or an individual to provide chapter administrative services. Below is a description of an Association Management Company.

An Association Management Company (AMC) is a professional service firm that provides leadership in association management and other services through experienced staff, proven practices, and shared resources.

When providing full service management, the AMC’s offices serve as the Chapter's headquarters. AMCs also provide specialized services to associations that may not need full service management. AMCs bring economies of scale, buying power, flexibility and adaptability through executive leadership and professional, efficient management of programs and services, enabling productive use of association leaders' time.

Facts about the AMC industry(1):

- Numbers more than 670 AMCs globally
- Represents more than 4,600 associations
- Manages annual budgets exceeding $3.4 billion
- Employs more than 7,600 professionals
- Manages nearly 23,000 association meetings each year

Benefits of AMC Model Backed by Evidence

Until a couple of years ago claims made about the benefits of the AMC model were supported by anecdotal comments, or not at all. L&M founder and principal Michael LoBue, CAE examined two independent operating ratio benchmark studies — one by the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE) for organizations that hire their own staff, lease their own offices and spend scarce revenue on capital goods and one by the AMC Institute for AMC-managed organizations.

Determining Chapters’ Needs

If your chapter decides to consider hiring an AMC, the next step is to determine the needs of the chapter board and committees. Below are some questions to ask Chapter Leadership.

1) What demand do you anticipate for a Chapter Administrator to handle member inquiries/service requests and respond to requests?

2) What is the level of service required for the maintenance and update of computer records for boards and committees? (e.g. luncheon guests, NPD awardees and guests, etc.)

3) What is the level of service required for upkeep and maintenance of the chapter website?

4) What is the demand for the creation and dissemination of communications pieces and promotional emails to members and/or others? Are these communications via email or through "regular" mail?

5) What level of service is required for staffing meetings and events - board, committee, monthly luncheon, NPD conferences, special events, etc. - and what are the specific tasks that need to be accomplished at these meetings and events?

6) What is the Chapter Administrator’s role with respect to documents required by and communications to/from IHQ?

7) What is the level of service expected to fulfill the needs of membership functions, e.g. welcome of new members, lapsed follow-ups, etc.?

8) What financial and accounting duties should committees and/or the board require of the Chapter Administrator?

9) What is the reporting structure you feel will best meet the needs of the chapter and facilitate the success of the Chapter Administrator?
